

Environmental policy

In the Servi Group environmental issues are an integral part of what we do. In all our activities we seek to ensure good health, and to constantly improve our environmental record while minimising our impact on the environment and optimising the use of resources.

As part of this commitment, we:

Seek to instil a sense of responsibility for the environment among all employees by providing information and education.

Set a high standard for our environmental activities, viewing legal and regulatory requirements as minimum requirements.

Take account of environmental factors in the development of new products, system solutions and production methods.

Seek to minimise the environmental impact of transports and travel.

Are open about environmental issues to our stakeholders.
